Korobochka (コロボ) @cirnosad
Sep 17, 2024 · 6 tweets · cirnosad/status/1835910435352301743

With every success you get, after overcoming every adversity, satan's demons wait for you to adopt a sense of pride, their entry into your soul.

Always be humble and have humility, knowing every success was enabled by God alone, and thank him for his support and protection.

After every failure, and setback, satan's demons always await you, to adopt a sense of wrath or envy.

Always have faith, this world is owned by Satan, not God. God is your protector and the only one facilitating your success. No matter what always believe he loves you.

When given temptations, do not be overcome with a sense of gluttony, greed, or lust.

For your own sake: Always practice self-control, so that you may keep not only what you love, what you're presented with but also yourself!

These temptations only lead you to folly after folly.

When there are no opportunities around you, when nothing is ever happening or changing, don't be a chud. That is, do not be overcome with sloth.

That's an opportunity in itself -- to make these things happen! There is never a void. As long as you believe in God, move forward!

Anyway this is just my opinion, have a beautiful day oomfies!

Oh and don't let satan win, if you give into these mistakes. God will always forgive you, if you can forgive yourself.

• • •