Korobochka (コロボ) 🇦🇺✝️🇷🇺 @cirnosad

Mar 24, 2024 • 11 tweets • cirnosad/status/1771995942876856495

Modern western women are just inferior men (lower intelligence, lower strength, low and short-lived earning potential, no morality).
They're born into a system that puts them in "school" and destroys their soul by mixing them in with bad girls and boys. / 🧵

Boys are harder to ruin but they try their hardest with them, turning them into Enuchs. Flooding them with pornography at every turn. Poisoning their minds with "entertainment" that programs them to behave like cuckolds when they grow up.
Putting them on ADHD medication...

The worst thing is even if either one of these people make it, there's no way to find each other and no way to know if the other is an imposter.
The social vetting system is gone, things that used to protect society were labeled old fashioned.
Boomers rebelled against standards.

I look at successful stories of people finding each other in the past and it seems like a total dream. My parents were neighbours who used to ride bicycles together in a group of friends. That stuff went extinct in the 90s.
Today there's nothing but a barren wasteland.

These days, anyone you meet might be a bad apple, someone who's taken the bad path and ruined themselves. Someone who is only acting like they care about you in order to validate themselves and throw you away later.

Eventually, both women and men callous up and ignore everyone.

Women can't help themselves and hate being alone, so they'll go through all the trash men willing to give them attention. Eventually they lose their attention too and become spinsters, making stty harmful videos on TikTok complaining about all the horrible men they've dated.

Men just kind of... fade out of sight.
I know so many guys that have just given up early on and have never tried again, some in their 20s, some 30s and older.
They don't really speak up. You'll notice most people who do are anonymous unlike women who are enabled...

It's only going to get worse. These men will eventually lose motivation and stop even working at all. We can look at China's lay flat movement for a model.

The women? An even darker future awaits the spinsters once economic collapse sets in. Many will not survive without a man.

The only men that will be willing to give the spinsters are going to be very very old men with a lot of money and only for prostitution.

I don't see a conventional way out of this death spiral. It's very much set in stone. The momentum will keep it going until it's too late.

What would happen should a disastrous war take place?
This could provide the impetus for the surviving subsociety (the healthy part) to change the dynamics and laws to favour life instead of death.

We will have to leave them some motivational material to secure this ending.
/End

give the spinsters attention*

• • •