Tr

Korobochka (コロボ) 🇦🇺✝️🇷🇺 @cirnosad

Sep 17, 2024 · 6 tweets · cirnosad/status/1836177602589110695

Reading the words of Jesus Christ brings out satanic spirits with viperous tongues out of people that you do not expect. It's quite amazing, they will spill out all that satan has taught them in opposition to Christ.
Remember this: The red letters never lie. The black letters may

I have a great hostility to every single lie I hear no matter how minor.
I came to the gospel very late in life without any priors as I believed in nothing but a loving God. What I found in Jesus's words are nothing but truth and I couldn't stop reading about him and what he said

The red letters were written in his own blood, as he was aware he was going to die (and said so) throughout his ministry. He only evaded the Pharisees long enough to wrap around the entire work of satan (in the OT) and exterminate it for a future date.

In his time only few knew.

But those that don't know, they are also part of his plan, as is the entire church.
The important thing is to protect the word, and if the word is attacked (for example by the satanic United States government, enslaved by Jews), that's our signal to start war.

Defend the gospel with your blood, as it was given to you by blood.

Jesus left behind just two commandments, lovingly. But only after wrecking everything evil that came before him and wrecking everything evil that will come after him [even from his own followers], because he had the ultimate prescience.

• • •